Friday 22 November 2024 09:30 (30 minutes)

In October 2022, with support of the Software Sustainability Institute (Great Britain), especially the Universe HPC Project, the ByteSized RSE Program has been established. The concept is composed of short online training courses, accompanied with a podcast episode on the same topic.

In this talk the program will be introduced in more detail, sharing the experiences that have been collected over more than two years.
