Contribution ID: 8                                                   Type: not specified

Functions

Tuesday 8 April 2025 10:15 (1 hour)

Splitting parts of programs off into self contained, reusable blocks is a good way to handle complexity and allow for parts of a program to also be used in other projects.

Session Classification: Lessons